Unique ingredient

The benefits of azelaic acid in cosmetics are unique, with dermatologically proven efficacy and less adverse effects than other ingredients.

Skin lightening

Azelaic acid inhibits conversion of tyrosine to melanin and is beneficial for skin lightening, brightening, or to maintain dark spots or sun damage under control.

Treatment of acne

Azelaic acid is highly favorable in acne treatment compared to traditional ingredients. It has anti-bacterial and comedolytic action, being very effective for all types of acne and skin impurities. It doesn't entail adverse effects.

Control of rosacea

Azelaic acid has been demonstrated to be effective in the treatment of rosacea. It actively rebalances keratinization and normalizes the skin flora.

Reduces redness and hyperpigmentation

Thanks to its anti-inflammatory properties, azelaic acid decreases skin redness, improving the skin complexion and evening out skin hyperpigmentation.

Stimulates hair regrowth

Azelaic acid is a well-known inhibitor of 5 α -reductase, stimulating hair strength, thickening and regrowth. Combinations with other hair or scalp care ingredients are possible.
